Board of Education.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

To the School Board and the Citizens of Hampstead
N. H.:

I herewith submit my second annual report, the fifteenth in the series of superintendent's reports.

During the summer all four of the elementary school buildings were remodelled. The lighting was made to conform to the demands of the State Board of Education; the out-houses were moved up and connected with the school rooms by ventilated passages and "Kanstine" toilets installed. The committee exhausted their funds before fully completing the work, but when this is done the buildings will be in first-class condition.

During the year 1919--1920 the teacher problem in East Hampstead and West Hampstead was a serious one but after Miss Buttrick and Miss Spollett were placed in the schools the problems became simple.

The district is to be congratulated on the fact that in the summer of 1920 only one change in its teaching force occurred. Miss Paine after one year in the high school left to take up library work and Miss Judith Jenness of Rochester, graduate of the State College was chosen to take the place.

The work being done along all lines in the elementary schools and in the high school is excellent and exemplifies the advantages of continuity of service.

We need a place at the high school for manual training. With the exception of this subject the work of the seventh and eighth grades is on the basis, and up to the standard of junior high work. But manual training is essential to secure approval by the state and I trust that some suitable place may be secured this year so that this deficiency may be removed.

We have had one year of the operation of the new education law and have found it good. It has brought about a vast improvement in the condition of scores of school houses through the state. It has extended in a great number of towns the number of weeks of school and has aided these towns in the payments of salaries that would enable them to secure teachers of at least fair qualifications. The increases the length of the school year have been all the way from one to thirteen weeks. It has helped to equalize the burden of carrying the towns through the period of inflated prices, making the large places where there is some business activity and where there are some possibilities of getting money to help carry the load of the small places where such possibilities are fewer.

Hampstead received from the state treasury for the support of schools this year $2057.

The law has secured more uniformity of salaries of equipment and of work in the elementary schools and in general a higher standard of work and therefore more uniform and better results. It has put the educational system of the state on a broad, general business basis that will result in economy of effort, economy in the administration of school money, because as a state wide community better results will be secured in proportion to the expenditures.

The stimulus to home and school garden work given by war necessity for food production resulted in wonderful results in this direction by school children. Since the end of the war however, teachers have found it very difficult to arouse interest enough to make headway in this line. Some few teachers by their own interest and by personal powers of inspiration have been able to keep the work going, but it has fallen far behind, what it should be. Parents can do much to help this work along, in fact it is impossible to accomplish much without this active support and co-operation. I am hoping for a renewal of interest in this subject this spring.

The Parent-Teacher association has co-operated with the teachers most loyally through the year, and I take this opportunity to express my appreciation of, and to express my thanks for the aid and support of our schools given by this organization.

The extreme severity of the weather last winter made it impossible to visit the schools as regularly or as often as usual, throughout the supervisory district.

The snow was so deep that the use of an automobile was out of the question. The electric cars ran on two-hour time—when they did run—of stood on the tracks waiting for power or help to get them through. In one case I made two unsuccessful attempts to get to one school spending an entire day on each attempt from 6.30 in the morning till 7 o'clock in the evening. My third effort was successful but I had spent three whole days in making one visit. I find from my records that I made in all 734 visits during the year. an average of 4-4 visits for each day that the schools were actually in session.

This is not a complaint, but an explanation due the cause of supervision.

Hampstead is paying a heavy tax for schools, but, largely through the loyal co-operation of its citizens with its efficient committees it is getting full return for its money. There is no other force so potent in securing good schools as sympathetic co-operation by the community and certainly this spirit of helpfulness at present dominates the school district of Hampstead.

For loyal support given me in my work by committee, teachers and citizens, I desire to express my appreciation and thanks,

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES A. MacDOUGALL,
Superintendent.

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF MUSIC.

To the Superintendent and School Board of Hampstead, New Hampshire.

I herewith present my third annual report as supervisor of music in the Hampstead Schools.

The course of study remains unchanged. The children being taught how to sing, tunefully, by imitation and note songs in the first grade. Hollis Dann Music Course, Book, II is being used for this particular work. The songs in this book are attractive and just what the little people love to sing. The second, third and fourth grade pupils are becoming familiar with key signatures and time figures. Their work in the music reading is very good.

The fifth and sixth grade pupils at Number Two are doing fine work in three-part singing. Two-part singing is being successfully carried on at the East Hampstead School. The small number of pupils at Number Three and Number Four in the upper grades have made part singing impossible this year. Their work in unison singing is tuneful and good.

The chorus work in the High School steadily improves. The pupils seem to enjoy their singing lesson more each week. At the beginning of the term 1920 some bass voices were discovered and have been used to good advantage.

With the natural capacity of the Hampstead children along musical lines, which seems to me to be markedly good, and with the ability and faithfulness of the teachers I can plainly see yearly progress. Again I wish to thank these teachers for their help in making my work a success.

Respectfully submitted,

EVA A. WILLIAMS.
